About Delhi Technological University

"More than 75 years of Tradition of excellence in Engineering & Technology Education, Research and Innovations", Delhi College of Engineering, initially established with the name – Delhi Polytechnic. The institution was set up at historic Kashmere Gate campus as a follow up of the Wood and Abott Committee of 1938. The Institute came into existence in the year 1941 to cater the needs of Indian industries for trained technical manpower with practical experience and sound theoretical knowledge. The national diploma awarded by the institution was recognized as equivalent to degree level for the purposes of employment. In 1952 the college was affiliated with University of Delhi and called as Delhi College of Engineering. The department of Architecture later became the School of Planning and Architecture, now a Deemed University and Institution of National importance. The department of Arts and Sculpture became College of Arts and the departments of Chemical Technology and Textile Technology were shifted out en-block to mark beginning of the IIT Delhi.

The erstwhile DCE functioned from its historic Kashmere Gate Campus for almost 55 years and has shifted in 1996 to its lush green sprawling campus of 164 Acres at Bawana Road, adjoining Sector-17, Rohini, Delhi-42. Its shifting to new campus has added the dimension of research and caused innovations in plenty, which has received high national and international acclaim. DCE was given the status of University (DTU) in the year 2009. As Delhi Technological University it has the desired autonomy to excel and shape itself as a world class Technological University.

The Department of Mechanical Engineering

The Department of Mechanical Engineering, Automobile Engineering and Production & Industrial Engineering has seen considerable growth since its inception in 1941. The department offers UG programme in Mechanical, Production & Industrial Engineering and Automobile Engineering and PG programmes on Thermal Engineering, Production Engineering, Renewable Energy Technology and Computational Design.

About 200 research Scholars are presently pursuing their Ph.D. research work. The department possesses modern laboratories equipped with latest experimental set-ups, and research facilities for instrumentation, experimental stress analysis, strength of materials, fluid mechanics, IC engines, Automotive Engineering, Robotics, Heat Transfer, Solar Energy, Flexible Manufacturing System, Computational Fluid Dynamics supported by Software like View-Flex, CAD-CAM, etc.

The Department has small to medium capacity state of art bio-diesel processing units. Different species of non-edible oil such as linseed, Thumba, Jatropha, cottonseed, waste cooking oil etc. and high FFA oils such as rice bran, Neem, Mahua etc. have been successfully converted into bio diesel.
